

INSPECTORS AND CAPTAINS HURRY AT M'ADOO'S CALL

Commanders of Police Go Before the Commissioner, Hold Secret Conferences on the Gambling Revelations and Rush Away on Mysterious Missions.

POOL-ROOM MEN NOW ARE ALL BADLY FRIGHTENED.

Jerome's Work and McAdoo's Action in Identifying the Bettors Caught in Raids Result in the Practical Closing Down of All the Resorts.

Police Headquarters took on an appearance of activity indicating extensive developments late this afternoon. The entire staff of policemen was kept on duty until five o'clock, instead of four as has been the rule, and notification was given that five o'clock will close the working day in the future.

Captain Flood, of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, had a long talk with Commissioner McAdoo. Capt. Cottrell, of the Tenderloin, and Capt. O'Connor, of the Mercer Street Station, followed him. Then came Inspectors Walsh and McLaughlin, who were in the Commissioner's office for over an hour. Inspector Walsh recently had charge of the West Side district, comprising the old and new Tenderloins, which is now in charge of Inspector McLaughlin.

M'CLUSKY VERY BUSY.

Inspector McClusky was the busiest man. He leaped from the ground floor to the top floor and back again all afternoon, sometimes stopping in Commissioner McAdoo's office, sometimes conferring with Inspector Brooks, sometimes talking earnestly with Inspector Cortright. Sgt. Sheldon, of the Information Bureau, went through the building at 4 o'clock and informed all policemen on duty that they would be expected to remain until 5 o'clock to-day and every day hereafter.

From Jerome's Office to McAdoo's. Capt. Flood went from Headquarters to the District Attorney's office, where he talked for an hour with Assistant District Attorney Lord. It was announced after his departure that he had assured Mr. Lord of his hearty co-operation in cleaning up the West Forty-seventh street precinct, attention to which has been called frequently of late by the Evening World.

Another visitor to Mr. Lord this afternoon was Detective Sergeant Melvor, of the West Thirtieth street station. Melvor was one of the detectives to whom was given a subpoena to serve upon "Honest John" Kelly. He reported that he could not find Kelly, but Capt. Cottrell said that he did not return the subpoena. Melvor stated this afternoon that he did deliver the subpoena personally to Capt. Cottrell when he reported that he had been unable to serve it.

Deputy Commissioner Farrell, of Brooklyn, got busy this afternoon and sent five of his detectives out to Ridgewood, where they raided an alleged pool-room in Ellinger's Hotel, at St. Nicholas avenue and Palmetto street. There were 200 men in the place, of whom seven were arrested, charged with running a pool-room. Names and addresses of forty witnesses were taken. The prisoners were locked up in the Glendale avenue station, the captain of which took no part in the raid.

Pool-Rooms Under Cover.

The only way the pool-room men would accept bets was over the telephone. Even this method was surrounded with every safeguard. No one was allowed to talk beting to a pool-room over the wire unless he was well known to the proprietor. There was a general fear that the District Attorney and the police might try to lay traps in phone beting.

Mr. Jerome went to his country home in Lakeville, Conn., for a rest last night. He will not return until Monday. In his absence it is not likely that he will be able to return until Monday.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 8 P. M. Saturday for New York City and vicinity: Fair to-night, followed by snow in the early morning; Saturday cloudy, probably snow; fresh to brisk northerly winds.

15 ARRESTS MADE IN "CADET" CASES.

System Still Flourishes on the East Side, According to This Investigator. Ten men and eight women who were arrested on the east side, above Tenth street, on warrants issued by Magistrate Barlow, were arraigned before him in the Yorkville Court this afternoon, charged with vagrancy. This charge was merely a technical one, and according to Simon Noot, of No. 320 Broadway, formerly an Assistant Corporation Counsel, a much more serious charge will be preferred against the men.

CASE AGAINST BISHOP TALBOT ENDS ABRUPTLY

Board of Inquiry Decides It Unconstitutionally Brought.

MEMBERS AT ODDS.

Session at Which Decision Is Reached Is Peppery in Its Character.

(Special to The Evening World.)

READING, Pa., Jan. 12.—The Board of Inquiry in the Talbot-Irvine case adjourned sine die at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon, after having been in session for nearly four hours.

The adjournment was due to the fact that the Board decided it had been unconstitutionally constituted.

This ends the case so far as the Board appointed by Bishop Tuttle is concerned. It may come up again, however, in the form of another presentation. Rev. Dr. Bodine promised a formal statement explaining and defending to-day's action.

It was stated that the session was peppery from the start, the members being at odds over different points. The decision to adjourn was reached after a lengthy discussion that was bitter at times.

Ten members of the Episcopal Board of Inquiry were present to-day when that body convened in Woodchapel to investigate the charges preferred by Rev. J. N. W. Irvine against Bishop Ethelbert Talbot.

Rev. Dr. W. B. Bodine, of Philadelphia, presided, and the following members of the committee were present: Central Pennsylvania Diocese, Rev. Dr. Henry L. Jones, Rev. Dr. Rogers Israel, William R. Butler and James M. Lamberton.

As soon as the committee entered the chapel the doors were closed and the gates leading to the edifice were closed and locked. It was stated by Dr. Bodine that nothing would be given out for several hours.

Dr. Frederick Jenkinson, of Philadelphia, who prepared the presentment, arrived here to-day. He said that he had not been sent for, but that he was on hand in case the board desired his presence.

Church People Angry. Before going into the meeting, Francis Lynde Stetson said that it was his opinion that the board was illegally constituted, but other members of the committee expressed different views.

Messrs. Butler and Lamberton, both lay members of the committee, said that they were of the opinion that the board was legal and, outside of a few technical niceties, could legally dispose of the case.

The parish house, in which the board met, is a small two-story affair in the rear of the Christ Cathedral and the gate to the pathway leading to the building was guarded by a sexton, who ordered away all who sought to gain any information concerning the deliberations of the board.

He, however, only reflected the sentiment of the communicants of the cathedral, all of whom are exceedingly indignant that their church has been made to figure in the case, even to the extent of having the board meet in its parish house.

Members at Odds.

Mr. Jenkinson vanished from his hotel early in the day, and it was said that he had gone to the parish house to offer the board such written testimony bearing on the case as he had with him. One of the reasons for the great care exercised in keeping every one from the parish house was that the session was an exceedingly lively one, the proceedings at times being breezy to the verge of acrimony.

This was due to the fact that the board was divided among itself as to its powers and the proper course of procedure. Those who held that the powers of the Board are supreme and that it is not only the right but its duty to go on with the case and have the fullest possible inquiry into the presentment, were led by Mr. William Butler, who was earnestly seconded by Mr. Lamberton, of Harrisburg. They both held that the presentment is legally before the board and that it should be either proved or disproved.

In support of their insistence for an investigation they point to the fact that the presenters even in requesting the withdrawal of the presentment reiterated charges contained in it and insist that they can be substantiated by documentary and verbal proof.
